The defending Stanley Cup champion Pittsburgh Penguins will face the Nashville Predators in game one of the Stanley Cup Final on Monday night.

The Nashville Predators have made it to the Stanley Cup finals for the first time in their 19 year history. So Bridgestone Arena will be the scene of playoff history. Bridgestone Arena has a seating capacity of 17,113 for ice hockey. Bridgestone Arena (originally Nashville Arena and formerly Gaylord Entertainment Center and Sommet Center) is an all-purpose venue in downtown Nashville, Tennessee, that was completed in 1996.

In 2015 and 2016, the management of Bridgestone installed Ecoglo F4171 stair nose on all bowl steps, and E3071 on all collapsible stair steps. Slips and falls are now a thing of the past, just like losing hockey for the predators.

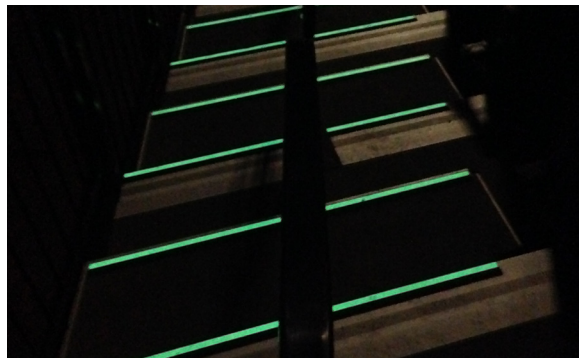

Bridgestone Arena ranks fifth in the United States and 16th in the world for concert ticket sales, according to international trade publication Pollstar's Year-End Ticket Sales report. Pollstar announced Bridgestone Arena ticket sales as 591,954 inclusive of solely show and concert tickets, from 54 events and 80 performances in 2016. When including the SEC Men's Basketball Tournament and Nashville Predators home hockey games, Bridgestone Arena has hosted more than 1 million people in the building during the year.
